Tournament Information

Friday Night Magic is giving players in a growing number of countries the ability to play in a weekly event, and have a shot at cool prize cards in the process. The program is designed to keep the play style casual. For example:

- FNM events have significantly less impact on players' ratings than most tournaments;
- prize cards are available to participants in other ways than just to the winners; and
- for rules enforcement, the emphasis is on teaching players the correct ways to play.

To make it easier to participate, Friday Night Magic events may only be Standard Constructed, Sealed Deck or Booster Draft. Keeping these formats makes it easier for new players to participate, and you only have to remember three things: Pack your Standard deck, remember where the tournament is happening, and what time it starts.

Stores around the world are running Friday Night Magic nearly every week. Check the list of participating stores to see if a participating store is near you. Please contact the store to check for participation dates and starting times. If you have questions about Friday Night Magic in Europe,

Premium Card Prizes

Each month a different black-bordered, premium-version prize card will be given out. The cards will consist of cards legal in the Extended format. Since all cards in the Standard format are already available in premium versions, the Extended cards will give players something new and help players collect the cards they need to be competitive in Extended tournaments. The cards feature the DCI logo in bronze and many have original flavor text and updated wordings.

Past prize cards have included River Boa, Shock, Terror, Longbow Archer, Swords to Plowshares, Ophidian and more.

Friday Night Magic Rules:

- All *Friday Night Magic events must have at least 8 players participate for it to take place, and for prize cards to be awarded.
- FNM events are all 8k tournaments, and have a Rules Enforcement Level (REL) of 1.
- Stores do not have to run their tournaments each week, so contact the store in advance of the tournament to be sure they are running FNM on the date you're planning on visiting.
- All 3 prize cards associated with each *Friday Night Magic event must be awarded to the players.
- If fewer than 8 players participate, the event does not count toward player ratings, and prize cards must be returned.
