

Home > Games > Magic > Magicthegathering.com > Magic Arcana

Phyrexian Wreckage in Time Spiral

Magic Arcana
 Tuesday, November 7, 2006

Part of the look of Time Spiral's black-aligned environments is the dripping carcasses of Phyrexian horrors. When Karn became the manifestation of the assembled Legacy and blasted Yawgmoth to smithereens, Phyrexian invaders of all shapes and sizes perished throughout Dominaria. What you see in the background of many Time Spiral black cards represents the viscera and vehicular wreckage of those Phyrexians.

From the Time Spiral style guide: Phyrexian remains

Check out the environment around Gorgon Recluse or the volcanic battleground depicted in Molten Slagheap.

PRODUCTS

MAGIC ONLINE

MESSAGE BOARDS

Magic General Forum
 magicthegathering.com Forum

RULES

Gorgon Recluse art by Darrell Riche

Molten Slagheap art by Daren Bader

In addition, every basic Swamp in Time Spiral depicts Phyrexian bio-wreckage extremely well. Check out the toxic sludge-fens in these Swamp pieces. You can see hulls of ships, organs still sluicing ichor, even claws or ribcages of individual invaders that almost feel like they're about to get up and resume their destruction of life on Dominaria.

Swamp art by Craig Mullins

Swamp art by John Avon

Discuss on the message boards

Magic Arcana archive

